Peña's Disposal Recognized in National Industry Magazine

CUTLER – Family-owned Peña's Disposal has been recognized in the nationally distributed Resource Recycling magazine, a leading publication for the recycling industry.

The 30th anniversary edition of the magazine named Peña's Material Recovery Facility as the "MRF of the Month" and offers history and an overview of the work done at the Cutler facility.

"This is a leading trade association and a leading trade journal providing news and information on the recycling industry," noted Art Peña, vice-president of Peña's Disposal. "For a Cutler business to be recognized on the national level is quite an honor."

Peña's has enjoyed local honors in the last few months, also, including being a finalist for the Large Business of the Year award with the Visalia Chamber of Commerce, and Entrepreneur of the Year award with the Tulare County Economic Development Corporation.

Peña's Disposal's facility in Cutler is a Material Recovery Facility and a one-stop resource for recycling household hazardous waste, green waste, e-waste and construction and demolition waste, as well as CRV buy-back. The family-owned company also provides curbside waste pickup in unincorporated areas of Tulare and Fresno counties. For information, call 528-3909 or visit penasdisposal.com.
